Course Title
Expository Preaching 1: Developing and Preaching a Biblical Sermon

Course Description
This course teaches a methodology for developing and delivering expository sermons. It surveys the ten steps for sermon construction, based on part 1 of Preaching God's Word: A Hands-On Approach to Preparing, Developing, and Delivering the Sermon. The class includes lectures, labs, conferences, and evaluated sermons along with textbook reading.

Course Purpose
This course assists in the preparation of pastors and Bible students for pulpit ministry. It provides a hands-on approach for moving from a sermon text to a persuasive and theologically robust sermon.

Course Objectives
- The student will correctly exegete an assigned sermon text.
- The student will grasp the meaning of a sermon text.
- The student will write out the timeless principles within the sermon text.
- The student will exegete the sermon audience and arrange the exegetical data to meet the perceived needs of that audience.
- The student will write out the sermon thesis and main points of the sermon.
- The student will develop text-centered applications.
- The student will write out and practice the sermon.
- The student will deliver an evaluated sermon.

Course Requirements
1. The student must attend the class and complete the labs.
2. The student will preach a 15-20 minute sermon that will be evaluated.
3. The student will participate in evaluating his classmates' sermons.
4. The student will be encouraged to read part 1 of the textbook if it is available.
